

ALL ASSISTANCE PLANS ARE NOT CREATED EQUAL

A recent survey released on Business Wire revealed that 80% of U.S. business travelers feel their company has a legal obligation to ensure their safety while traveling abroad on business, yet almost half (46%) say they have no clear travel security policy at their firm.

Insurers are beginning to recognize this need: There are now more than 28 insurance companies offering assistance programs. At first glance those programs may seem to be the same, but they are not. Presidio is pleased to offer Assist America global emergency services because...

Assist America has no peer as the most robust assistance program available.

Other Providers	Assist America
Arrange services but do not pay; charge back to insurer, employer or member	Arranges and pays for all services
Have pre-existing condition exclusions	Has no pre-existing condition exclusions
Have exclusions for sports, suicide and alcohol-related injuries	Has no such exclusions
Have internal caps and limits on services	Has no caps or limits on services
Have inferior plans with buy-up options	Has one plan: Solve the problem
Are owned by foreign insurance companies, creating conflicts of interest and varying care levels	Privately owned, with U.S. standards of care
Charge extra for spouse and dependents	Automatically covers spouse and dependents, whether traveling with the employee or not
Phones answered by administrative operators	Phones answered by medical personnel
Task members to determine whether a country is "open" or "closed" for services based on world events	Has no geographic restrictions; open for services 24/7 anywhere in the world

Avoid legal and financial risks with the right assistance provider.

For more information about Assist America's services through Presidio, contact Richard Berve at richard_berve@pxis.com, 913-871-7202, or Doug Stewart at doug_stewart@pxis.com, 415-354-1575.